

Property Address ⁴⁵⁰¹~~604~~ Wyville Road, west of Old Crain Highway, Upper Marlboro vicinity, Prince George's County
Owner Name/Address Holmes C. Hopkins / Wyville Road, Upper Marlboro, Maryland 20772
Year Built circa 1870

Description:

The Eckenrode-Hopkins House was previously surveyed by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission in 1974 and 1980. The property was named the "Eckenrode-Hopkins House" in 1980 and the "Isabella Eckenrode House" in 1974. A Prince George's County Subdivision Review Committee memo dated 1990 and the Woodland Historic District National Register of Historic Places Registration Form (PG:79-63) of 1990 refer to the property as the "Eckenrode-Wyvell House."

Several outbuildings were not mentioned in the prior survey forms. To the east of the house is a front-gable, wood-frame garage with a lean-to addition. North of the garage is a gambrel roof barn. The barn has a standing-seam metal roof and is sided in vertical wood boards. A small side-gable shed is located a short distance from the northwest corner of the house. The shed is of wood-frame construction with a concrete foundation, an asphalt shingle roof and vinyl siding.

Statement of Significance:

The Eckenrode-Hopkins House was originally situated on 10.72 hectares (26.5 acres) of "Woodland" purchased through three transactions in 1867, 1870, and 1874 from the Hill family. John Eckenrode was a carpenter and brickmason in Prince George's County. He constructed a house on the land circa 1870 after the publication of Martenet's Atlas of Prince George's County, Maryland, 1861. Hopkins' Atlas of Prince George's County, Maryland, 1878 indicates the house of Isabella Eckenrode. The property was sold in 1883 to John C. Wyvell, a carpenter and builder, as the result of a lawsuit between Isabella Eckenrode and Henry Eckenrode. Three generations of the Wyvell Family lived in the house until 1958 when the property was sold to the current owners, Holmes Curtis Hopkins and Laura Anderson Hopkins. The parcel associated with the premises is now 9.89 hectares (24.45 acres).

National Register Evaluation:

The Eckenrode-Hopkins House is eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. The property is not eligible under Criterion A since research conducted indicates no association with any historic events or trends significant in the development of national, state or local history. Historic research indicates that the property has no association with persons who have made specific contributions to history, and therefore, it does not meet Criterion B. The property is eligible under Criterion C as the work of the locally-significant carpenters John Eckenrode and John Wyvell. The property also is an outstanding example of an I-house, having the characteristic 3-bay, 1-pile, 2-story form with unusually well-executed architectural details and additions. Houses of similar form and detail were constructed in this area by successful planters of the nineteenth century. The property is also a contributing resource within the Woodland Historic District (PG:79-63). The Woodland Historic District was determined eligible for the National Register of Historic Places by the Maryland Historical Trust in July 1993.

Owner Name/Address Holmes C. Hopkins / Wyville Road, Upper Marlboro, Maryland 20772

Verbal Boundary Description and Justification:

The National Register Boundary for the Eckenrode-Hopkins House corresponds to that of Prince George's County Tax Map 93, part of Parcel 90 as described in a deed from Albert F. Wyvell to Holmes C. Hopkins and found in Prince George's County Land Records Liber 2267, Folio 579. The 9.89-hectare (24.45-acre) parcel is bounded on the east by Wyville Road and on the north, west and south by adjacent tax parcels. The boundary includes the house, garage, barn and shed as contributing resources. It encompasses a majority of the 10.72-hectare (26.5-acre) parcel historically associated with the property, from which two small parcels to the southeast have been subdivided. Modern structures have been constructed on the subdivided parcels.

John Eckenrode was a carpenter and brickmason in Prince George's County. National Register Evaluation:

The Eckenrode-Hopkins House is not individually eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. The property is not eligible under Criterion A, as research conducted indicates no association with any historic events or trends significant in the development of national, state or local history. Historic research indicates that the property has no association with persons who have made specific contributions to history, and therefore, it does not meet Criterion B. It is not eligible under Criterion C, as it is an undistinctive example of a common building type. This structure is a common building type in Prince George's County and does not possess any distinctive characteristics or represent the work of a master carpenter. Finally, the structure has no known potential to yield important information, and therefore, is not eligible under Criterion D.

In 1988, the Prince George's County Historic Preservation Commission judged that a portion of Old Crain Highway in the vicinity of the Eckenrode-Hopkins was eligible for the National Register of Historic Places as a rural historic district. The Eckenrode-Hopkins house is not recommended as individually eligible for the National Register, however it is a contributing element in the rural historic district.

MHT CONCURRENCE:

Eligibility X recommended not recommended

Criteria A B X C D Considerations A B C D E F G None

Comments: MHT considers this property individually eligible with significance deriving from the construction of the house by a local carpenter and brickmason and later ownership by another local carpenter. Clearly the property, which appears to retain integrity, is locally significant under Criterion C.

HISTORIC SITES SUMMARY SHEET

P.G. County Survey # 79-8 Date ca. 1865
Building Name Eckenrode-Hopkins House
Location Wyville Road (west side), Upper Marlboro, Md.
Open to Public yes x no

The Eckenrode-Hopkins house is a frame structure built in several sections. The main (earliest) section is gable roofed and three bays wide, with a doorway in the central bay of the main (east) facade, and one interior chimney at the ridge between second and third bay. The boxed cornice is returned at the gable ends. A two section wing extends westward flush with the north end of the main house, its roof ridge at right angles to that of the main house. A hip roof plane on the south elevation forms a gable end with returned cornice to match the south gable end of the main house.

This house is located on part of the large Woodland tract which belonged to the Hill family for many generations. In 1867 and 1870 Richard Smith Hill sold pieces of a 40-acre parcel of the Woodland to John Eckenrode, who lived there until his death in 1874. It is probable that the main section (or part of it) was already standing when Eckenrode purchased the property. Eckenrode's estate was settled by the Court of Equity and the farm was sold to John C. Wyvill in 1882. Three generations of the Wyvill family lived in the house; they were a large family and the wings were added to increase the living space. The house is significant because of its unusual form, and as an example of a modest, but considerably expanded farmhouse.
